ROSWELL
PARK
COMPREHENSIVE CANCER CENTER

PATIENT
EDUCATION

When you are being treated for cancer, your body may go through many changes. You may have scars, hair loss, tooth loss, skin rashes, decreased libido, depression, and anxiety.

All of this may impact your comfort level when it comes to sex and intimacy. Intimate relationships are an important part of your overall health and well-being, but you may not feel comfortable talking with your doctor about these issues.

Roswell Park's Sexual Health Clinic offers men and women a private place to focus on this important aspect of their health. Here you can openly and honestly ask questions of our specialists without embarrassment.

The topics that can be discussed in the clinic include, but are not limited to:

- Body image and changes (hair loss, scars, swelling, stomas, hormonal changes, weight changes)
- Psychological issues (depression, anxiety, fear)
- Lack of libido
- Pain during intercourse
- Issues with urination or incontinence
- Problems with erection or ejaculation
- Pelvic floor therapy: your doctor may recommend you see our physical therapist for pelvic floor therapy if you have experienced any pelvic pain or incontinence. You may also call the Physical Therapy department for more information at 716-845-3271.

If you are interested in making an appointment with our Sexual Health Clinic, ask your Roswell Park physician for a referral. You can also call the Survivorship Clinic directly at 716-845-4800 option #1.

If you are not currently being treated at Roswell Park can still request a referral to the Sexual Health Clinic by calling 1-800-Roswell (716-767-9355) or going to the Roswell Park website (www.RoswellPark.org) and filling out the “Become a Patient” form.

The clinic is located within the Survivorship Clinic on the 3rd floor of Scott Bieler Clinical Sciences Center.
